VOLUME 2 INDEX

NO. 1, SPRING 1991	1-98
NO. 2, SUMMER 1991	99-202
NO. 3, FALL 1991	203-304
NO. 4, WINTER 1991	305-418

A

Accountability: leadership, 412; and training interventions, 27-28

Action research: and Health Planning and Services Development Project (Jordanian Ministry of Health), 134-135, 138-139; shortcomings, 140

Action Technologies, Inc., The Coordinator II, Version 2.01, reviewed, 301-304

Action training/learning. See Action research

Adult learning: and self-direction, 5-6; style preferences, 53-56. See also Self-directed learning; Work force literacy

Agribusiness, response to changing environment (case study), 75-80

American Society for Training and Development (ASTD), 62, 66, 374

Ameritech, relocation study, 158-170

Apprenticeship: craft and cognitive, 309; guild system, 308-309. See also Education; Training

Aptitude treatment interaction (ATI), 17

Articles: "A Comparison of Data Collection Methods for Assessing Training Needs," 143-155; "Developing and Validating the Performance Analysis for Training Model," 355-372; "Enhancing Group Behavior with a Keypad-Based Group Support System," 333-354; "The Evaluation of a Multiyear Management Development Program in a Third World Setting," 129-141; "Exploring How HRD Managers Differ from Other Managers," 373-386; "Job Demands and Managerial Learning in the Research and Development Function," 263-275; "Matching Instruction with Employee Perceptual Preference Significantly Increases Training Effectiveness," 53-64; "Organizational Training and Signals of Importance: Linking Pretraining Perceptions to Intentions to Transfer," 25-36; "Relocation Trauma: Fact or Fiction?" 157-170; "A Review of the Participatory Management Literature: Implications for HRD Research and Practice," 229-250; "A Taxonomy of Individual Learning Benefits from External Knowledge-Sharing Meetings," 37-52; "Training Practitioner Perceptions of the Research Agenda Needed to Improve Training," 65-73; "Work Force Literacy: Problems and Solutions," 251-261; "Workplace Literacy: A Descriptive Investigation," 121-128

Association for Quality and Participation (AQP), 208

B

Baldwin, T. T., "Designing Team-Based Employee Involvement Programs in a Continuous Improvement Environment: An Empirical Investigation," 207-221; "Employee Improvement Programs: A Rejoinder (HRDQ 2:3)," 387-389; "Organizational Training and Signals of Importance: Linking Pretraining Perceptions to Intentions to Transfer," 25-36

Basic skills education, 255-256

Benchmarking, 212-213, 216-217, 280

Block, P., The Empowered Manager: Positive Political Skills at Work, reviewed, 404-408

Boje, D. M., "A Taxonomy of Individual Learning Benefits from External Knowledge-Sharing Meetings," 37-52

Bolt, J. F., Executive Development: A Strategy for Corporate Competitiveness, reviewed, 94-96

Bostrom, R. P., "Enhancing Group Behavior with a Keypad-Based Group Support System," 333-354

"Business of Education and the Education of Business: Three Reviews, The," 189-180

C

Camp, R. R., "Training Practitioner Perceptions of the Research Agenda Needed to Improve Training," 65-73

Campbell, J. P., "Invited Reaction: The Compleat Self-Learner," 13–19
Capacity-building approach. See Health Planning and Services Development Project (Jordanian Ministry of Health)
Center for Public Resources, 255, 256, 258
Change: business design, 298–299; decision maker response to (case study), 75–80; economic and social, 285; excellence, 293–294; implementing, 294–295; individual, 295–296; and information technology, 91; Japanese long-term perspective, 104; and work force literacy, 252–255; workplace, 143–144, 320–321
Charismatic leadership, 398–399
Chief learning officer (CLO), 182–183, 186
Chubb, J. E., Politics, Markets, and America's Schools, reviewed, 190–194
Cognitive-expectancy theories, 14
"Comparison of Data Collection Methods for Assessing Training Needs, A," 143–155
Computers: and E-mail, 302; and groupware, 303–304; and human potential development, 333; and information technology (IT), 91, 299–300; myths, 333–334; as tool for interpersonal computing, 334; training program management software, 416–418. See also Technology
Contingency model of social influence, 88
Coordinator II, Version 2.01, The, reviewed, 301–304
Corporate culture, 83–84
Crawford, J. M., review by, 94–96
Critical incident procedure, 16
Cultural learning, 392–394
Culture: corporate, 83–84; defense of, 83

D

de Jong, J. A., "Final Word: The Future of On-Site Training," 329–331; "The Multiple Forms of On-Site Training," 307–317
Deming Prize (Japan), 278–279
Decision making. See Strategic decision making
DePree, M., Leadership Is an Art, reviewed, 409–412
"Designing Team-Based Employee Involvement Programs in a Continuous Improvement Environment: An Empirical Investigation," 207–221
"Developing and Validating the Performance Analysis for Training Model," 355–372
DeVogel, S. H., "The Malcolm Baldrige Award: Who Wins It and What It Takes," 277–283
Doing by learning, 331
Dutch Railways, on-site training program, 311–314

E

Education: and autonomy, 190–191; basic skills, 255–256; and business, 189, 195–198; guild system, 308–309; and industry interdependence, 255; Japanese, 393–394; and organizational culture, 280; and school choice system, 191–194; and site-based management, 196; and systems thinking, 199; and technology, 195; and work force literacy, 256–259. See also Adult learning; Learning; Self-directed learning; Training
Educational Testing Service, 252
Effectiveness, and employee involvement programs (EIPs), 218–219
Electronic mail (E-mail), 302
"Employee Improvement Programs: A Rejoinder (HRDQ 2:3), 387–389
Employee involvement programs (EIPs): and benchmarking, 212–213, 216–217; design/administration variables, 210–212, 224; effectiveness, 218–219; focus, 212; goal-setting process, 212; levels of involvement, 225–227; participation range model, 226; production teams, 216, 224; purpose, 388; research, 208, 387–388; reward systems, 217–218, 224; team-based (study), 207–218; team size, 218, 224; types, 207
Employees: blue-collar workers (Japan), 111; company relations (Japan), 118; empowerment, 183; image literacy, 185; job loss, 285–287; job-related skills, 143–144; learning responsibility, 176; safety/health, 255; satisfaction, 230; white-collar workers (Japan), 111–113. See also Employee involvement programs (EIPs); Work force literacy
Empowered Manager: Positive Political Skills at Work, The, reviewed, 404–408

"Enhancing Group Behavior with a Keypad-Based Group Support System," 333–354
"Evaluation of a Multiyear Management Development Program in a Third World Setting, The," 129–141
Executive development. See Training: executive
Executive Development: A Strategy for Corporate Competitiveness, reviewed, 94–96

Experiential learning, 5, 7–8
"Exploring How HRD Managers Differ from Other Managers," 373–386
External knowledge-sharing meetings: benefits, 38–39; cognitive development outcomes, 43–46; individual learning effects (study), 39–50; and information access, 41–43; popularity, 37–38; self-evaluation benefits, 46–49

F

Features: "Designing Team-Based Employee Involvement Programs in a Continuous Improvement Environment: An Empirical Investigation," 207–221; "Final Word: The Future of On-Site Training," 329–331; "Final Word: Self-Directed Learning—A Critical Pursuit for Human Resource Development," 21–24; "The Intricacies of Training and Development in Japan," 101–114; "Invited Reaction: The Compleat Self-Learner," 13–19; "Invited Reaction: Effective Employee Involvement Programs," 223–227; "Invited Reaction: On-Site Study—Structure and Responsibility," 325–327; "Invited Reaction: Thoughts About On-the-Job Training and On-the-Job Learning," 319–323; "Invited Reaction: Training and Development in Japan—The Basis for Relationships," 115–120; "The Multiple Forms of On-Site Training," 307–317; "Strategies for Facilitating Self-Directed Learning: A Process for Enhancing Human Resource Development," 3–12
Fifth Discipline: The Art and Practice of the Learning Organization, The, reviewed, 198–201
"Final Word: The Future of On-Site Training," 329–331
"Final Word: Self-Directed Learning—A Critical Pursuit for Human Resource Development," 21–24
Forum: "Employee Improvement Programs: A Rejoinder (HRDQ 2:3)," 387–389; "The Influence of Talkativeness and Expertise on Decision Making in Small Groups," 87–89; "Job Loss and Dislocated Workers: Reactions to Jacobs and Jones (HRDQ 1:3)," 285–289; "The Kinds Are More than Two: A Response to Smith's Review of Training Videos (HRDQ 1:4)," 291–292; "The Malcolm Baldrige Award: Who Wins It and What It Takes," 277–283; "The New Learning Organization: Should There Be a Chief Learning Officer in the House?' 181–187; "Response to Manz and Manz's Article on Self-Directed Learning (HRDQ 2:1): An Instructional Design Perspective," 175–179; "Response to Manz and Manz's Article on Self-Directed Learning (HRDQ 2:1): So How Would It Work?' 171–173; "Rhetorical Analysis of Strategic Responses by Managers," 75–81; "Rhetorical Rules Can Change Corporate Tribes But Not Corporate Culture," 83–85; "Trading Imbalance and Cultural Learning Imbalance," 391–395; "Transformational Leadership in Leadership Continues," 397–402

G

General system theory, leading parts concept, 181–182
Goad, T. W., The HRD Practitioner, A Person of Many Roles, reviewed, 96–98
Government, and work force literacy, 257
Gradous, D. B., "Invited Reaction: On-Site Study—Structure and Responsibility," 325–327
Green, G., "Workplace Literacy: A Descriptive Investigation," 121–128
Group support system (GSS): classification, 336; conceptual models, 340–348; configurations, 335–336; defined, 334; meeting dynamics, 349–351; meeting quality, 335; structure, 334–335; usefulness enhancement, 337
Groupism, 103
Groupware, 303–304

H

Health Planning and Services Development Project (Jordanian Ministry of Health): action planning/learning strategy, 132-135; assessment measures, 133-134; capacity-building/performance assessment, 135; individual/organizational assessment, 135-137; purpose/goals, 132

Hickey, H. W., "Trading Imbalance and Cultural Learning Imbalance," 391-395

Hoyer, D. T., "Training Practitioner Perceptions of the Research Agenda Needed to Improve Training," 65-73

HRD managers: careers/career success, 374-375, 379, 381; defined, 374; research needs, 383; roles, 374; study, 376-383; values, 381-382; visibility, 381, 384; would-be, 383

HRD Practitioner: A Person of Many Roles, The, reviewed, 96-98

Human resource development (HRD): and economic performance, 129; and international trade, 393-394; Japanese, 101, 102, 391-392; and on-the-job learning, 264-265; and participatory management, 237-238; practitioner roles, 96-98; and self-directed learning (SDL), 21; and strategic decision making, 80; top-down orientation, 97

Human resource professionals: as chief learning officer, 186; development (study), 144-154; development incentives, 150-151; development limitations, 149-150; and HRD vs. non-HRD managers, 373-374, 382; and job loss/worker dislocation issues, 289; as leading parts, 185; and management development, 264-265; meetings, 334; needs assessment, 144; and on-site learning, 322; and participatory management, 236-237; and performance issues, 204; training topics, 151; and workplace changes, 373. See also HRD managers

I

Illiteracy: adult, 251, 253-254; basic stages, 122; business impact, 254-255; changing concept, 254; costs, 123; defined, 122-123; and income/race correlates, 123; and productivity, 254-255; and psychosocial problems, 254; U.S., 121-122; work force (study), 123-128; and workplace productivity, 128

"Influence of Talkativeness and Expertise on Decision Making in Small Groups, The," 87-89

Information technology (IT), 91, 299-300

Ingham, J. M., "Matching Instruction with Employee Perceptual Preference Significantly Increases Training Effectiveness," 53-64

"Intricacies of Training and Development in Japan, The," 101-114

"Invited Reaction: The Compleat Self-Learner," 13-19

"Invited Reaction: Effective Employee Involvement Programs," 223-227

"Invited Reaction: Thoughts About On-the-Job Training and On-the-Job Learning," 319-323

"Invited Reaction: Training and Development in Japan—The Basis for Relationships," 115-120

J

Japan: blue-collar workers, 111; change perspective, 104; cultural learning, 392-394; education, 393-394; egalitarian management ethic, 102-103; generalist orientation, 104-105, 116; government policy, 105-106; groupism, 103; HRD development, 391-392; human relations, 103-104; industrial hierarchy, 106-107; internal labor market, 108; intracompany relations, 116-118; job rotation, 112-113; labor unions, 116; lifetime employment system (LES), 107; and long-term management perspective, 104, 116; management leadership, 104; on-the-job (OJT) training, 109, 111-113; organizational learning model of leadership, 184; ringi system, 103; and self-development and volunteerism, 109-110; training and development, 101-102, 108-114, 119-120; U.S. trade imbalance, 392; and Western human resources development model, 101-102; white-collar workers, 111-113; worker/company relations, 118; work force development, 105-106; work force education level, 118-119

Job Challenge Profile (JCP), 266–272
"Job Demands and Managerial Learning in the Research and Development Function," 263–275
Job instruction training (JIT), 319
Job loss: and corporate role, 287, 289; and crime, 285–286; human resource professionals' role, 289; moral dimensions, 286; and physiological changes, 286; political solutions, 287; society's role, 289; women and, 157, 162–163, 166, 168
"Job Loss and Dislocated Workers: Reactions to Jacobs and Jones (HRDQ 1:3)," 285–289
Jordanian Ministry of Health, Health Planning and Services Development Project, 132–140

K

Kahnweiler, W. M., "A Review of the Participatory Management Literature: Implications for HRD Research and Practice," 229–250
Kaman, V. S., review by, 293–298
Keen, P. G., Shaping the Future: Business Design Through Information Technology, reviewed, 298–301
Keypad systems, 337
Keypad-based group support systems meetings: conceptual models, 340–347; and data collection/feedback cycle, 342–344; dynamics model, 349–351; and information uncertainty/equivocality, 347–348; and meeting cycle model, 341; and organizational change model, 344–348; and organizational development model, 341–344; and social comparison theory, 346–347; study, 338–351; success, 351–352. See also Meetings
"Kinds Are More than Two: A Response to Smith's Review of Training Videos (HRDQ 1:4), The," 291–292
Kirk, J. J., "Exploring How HRD Managers Differ from Other Managers," 373–386
Kirkbride, L. A., review by, 416–418
Knowles, M. S., "Response to Manz and Manz's Article on Self-Directed Learning (HRDQ 2:1): So How Would It Work?" 171–173
Kropp, H. R., "A Taxonomy of Individual Learning Benefits from External Knowledge-Sharing Meetings," 37–52
Kulick, N. P., "Relocation Trauma: Fact or Fiction?" 157–170
Kwon, D.-B., "Trading Imbalance and Cultural Learning Imbalance," 391–395

L

Laetz, V. B., "Training Practitioner Perceptions of the Research Agenda Needed to Improve Training," 65–73
Lang, D. L., "Transformational Leadership in Leadership Continues," 397–402
Language. See Rhetorical analysis
Leadership: and accountability, 412; as art, 409–412; and being needed, 411; and commitment, 412; and covenantal vs. contractual relationships, 411–412; and follower-leader relationship, 399; and involvement, 411; Japanese, 104; moral aspects, 397, 399–400; organizational learning model, 184; and quality issues, 278, 279; situational, 400; transformational and charismatic, 398–399. See also Self-leadership; SuperLeadership
Leadership Is an Art, reviewed, 409–412
Leading parts concept, 181–182
Learning: action, 182; and advocacy, 9; and business schools, 184; continuum, 175–176; cultural, 392–394; design factors, 176–177; doing by, 331; and environment, 9; from experience, 5; and external knowledge-sharing meetings, 41–49; goals, 22; instrumental, 182; interactive, 8; and job demands, 273–274; on-the-job, 264–265; and rewards, 273; and self-efficacy, 7; style, 53–63; systems, 181–185; team, 201; traditional, 176; working boundary, 316. See also Adult learning; Education; On-the-job learning (OJL); Self-directed learning (SDL)
Learning-by-inquiry, 330
Learning organizations: and chief learning officer (CLO), 182–183, 186; defined, 182; five-discipline description, 199–201; and flexibility, 182–183; and leading parts concept, 181–182; and learning system, 181; and technology, 186; and venture companies, 184

Learning resource centers (LRC), 172–173
Learning style: evaluation, 54–56; and instructional strategy, 57–63; preferences, 53–54
Learning systems, 181–182
Lebby, A. M., "The Business of Education and the Education of Business: Three Reviews," 189–180; "A Twenty-Dollar Bill, an Hour of Time, and a Tiny Book: Three Reviews," 403–404; reviews by, 91–93, 198–201, 301–304, 409–412
Leittext training method, 314–315
Leonard, G., Mastery: The Keys to Long-Term Success and Fulfillment, reviewed, 413–416
Lifetime employment system (LES) (Japan), 107
Lindberg, K. J., "The Intricacies of Training and Development in Japan," 101–114
Literacy: adult, 251, 253–254; business sector response to, 252, 258–259; defined, 251–252; training programs, 255–259; workplace (study), 123–128. See also Illiteracy; Work force literacy

M

McCauley, C. D., "Job Demands and Managerial Learning in the Research and Development Function," 263–275
McConkey, M., review by, 413–416
McCormick, G. R., review by, 96–98
McEnery, J. M., "Relocation Trauma: Fact or Fiction?" 157–170
Magjuka, R. J., "Designing Team-Based Employee Involvement Programs in a Continuous Improvement Environment: An Empirical Investigation," 207–221; "Employee Improvement Programs: A Rejoinder (HRDQ 2:3)," 387–389; "Organizational Training and Signals of Importance: Linking Pretraining Perceptions to Intentions to Transfer," 25–36
"Malcolm Baldrige Award: Who Wins It and What It Takes, The," 277–283
Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award: articles on, 281–282; and Japanese Deming Prize, 278–279; and quality improvement literature, 278–281
Management: development, 264–265; Japanese perspective, 102–105, 115; process quality, model, 278. See also Participatory management
Managers: career success, 375, 379; empowering, 404–408; HRD vs. non-HRD (study), 376–383; and Job Challenge Profile (JCP), 266–272; job demands, 266–267, 272; job satisfaction, 375; on-the-job learning, 264–265; research and development, 263–264; U.K. vs. U.S., 269–272; values, 375, 379. See also HRD managers; Management
Manz, C. C., "Final Word: Self-Directed Learning—A Critical Pursuit for Human Resource Development," 21–24; "Strategies for Facilitating Self-Directed Learning: A Process for Enhancing Human Resource Development," 3–12
Manz, K. P, "Final Word: Self-Directed Learning—A Critical Pursuit for Human Resource Development," 21–24; "Strategies for Facilitating Self-Directed Learning: A Process for Enhancing Human Resource Development," 3–12
Marketing Science Institute (MSI), 39–40
Mastery: The Keys to Long-Term Success and Fulfillment, reviewed, 413–416
"Matching Instruction with Employee Perceptual Preference Significantly Increases Training Effectiveness," 53–64
Meetings: defined, 334; quality improvement, 335; three-phase cycle, 341; wasteful, 334. See also Keypad-based group support systems meetings
Mendenhall, M. E., "A Taxonomy of Individual Learning Benefits from External Knowledge-Sharing Meetings," 37–52
Mentors, 172
Moe, T. M., Politics, Markets, and America's Schools, reviewed, 190–194
Motivation: theories, 14; and trainability, 25–26; trainee, and management actions, 26
Multiorganizational professional roundtable, 39
"Multiple Forms of On-Site Training, The," 307–317
Myrtle, R. C., "The Evaluation of a Multiyear Management Development Program in a Third World Setting," 129–141

N

National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP), 252
Needs assessment: human resource professional training, 144; relocation, 168. See also Training needs assessment
"New Learning Organization: Should There Be a Chief Learning Officer in the House? The," 181–187

O

On-site development, 331
On-site instruction, 309–311, 325, 329–330
On-site learning (OJL): and HRD professionals, 322, 330–331; and self-directedness, 320, 322
On-site practice, 308–309, 319, 325
On-site study: conceptual framework, 331; defined, 311, 325–326; economics, 327; and employee initiation, 311–313; and learning-by-inquiry, 330; Leittext method, 314–315; responsibility issues, 326–327, 330; success factors, 330; and technical innovation, 313–314. See also Self-directed learning (SDL)
On-site training: categories, 308; and job instruction training, 319; and learning/working boundary, 316; and on-site instruction, 309–311, 325, 329–330; and on-site practice, 308–309, 319, 325, 329–330; and on-site study, 311–315, 325–327; and on-the-job training, 307, 319; and organizational type, 315–316, 330–331; origins, 307; and task analysis, 310, 316. See also On-the-job training (OJT)
On-the-job learning (OJL): and on-the-job training, 319; seven-step model, 321
On-the-job training (OJT): employer costs, 320; in Japan, 109, 111–113; and Job Challenge Profile (JCP), 266–268; and management development, 264–265; and off-the-job training, 308, 319; planned, 320–321; seven-step model, 321; unplanned, 319; and workplace change/cutbacks, 320–321. See also On-site training
Organizational change model: and moving, 345; and refreezing, 345–346; and unfreezing, 344
Organizational culture. See Culture
Organizational development model of group support systems, 342–344
Organizational learning theory: and Ashby's Law of Requisite Variety, 184; and U.S. vs. Japanese firms, 184
Organizational theory, and information uncertainty/equivocality, 347–348
"Organizational Training and Signals of Importance: Linking Pretraining Perceptions to Intentions to Transfer," 25–36
Organizations: culture, 83–84; flexibility to learn, 182–183; as learning cultures, 183–184; learning disabilities, 199; product development, 264; signals of importance, 27–30; systems analysis, 302; and training, 28–29; variability of response, 184–185; and work force literacy, 257–258
Orsburn, J. D., "Invited Reaction: Effective Employee Involvement Programs," 223–227

P

Participatory management: defined, 229; and employee satisfaction, 229–230; and human resource professionals, 236–237; implications for HRD research, 237–238; literature (study), 230–236; research deficits, 236–238
Passmore, D. L., "Job Loss and Dislocated Workers: Reactions to Jacobs and Jones (HRDQ 1:3)," 285–289
Pearson, A. W., "Job Demands and Managerial Learning in the Research and Development Function," 263–275
Performance: benchmarking, 212–213, 216–217; taxonomy, 203–204
Performance Analysis for Training (PAT) Model: description, 357–360; development, 356–357; research needs, 370–371; testing (study), 360–370; and training needs determination phases, 359–360
Peters, T., Thriving on Chaos, reviewed, 91–93
Politics, Markets, and America's Schools, reviewed, 190–194

Preskill, H., "A Comparison of Data Collection Methods for Assessing Training Needs," 143–155
Problem solving: and expertise, 88–89; and talkativeness, 87–88
Process quality management (PQM), 278
Product: innovation, 274; quality, 278
Productivity Environmental Preference Survey (PEPS), 54–56

Q

Quality function deployment (QFD), 278
Quality improvement: and computer-based training, 279; and leadership, 278, 279; literature, 278–281; and Malcolm Baldrige award, 281–282

R

Rains, J. D., "The Kinds Are More than Two: A Response to Smith's Review of Training Videos (HRDQ 1:4)," 291–292
Redenbaugh, R. G., review by, 298–301
REGISTRAR™ Training Registration and Logistics Management System, reviewed, 416–418
Relocation: acceptability, 158; and adult dependent, 163; Ameritech study, 158–170; factors influencing, 160–163; increase, 157; and individual control, 166; needs assessment, 168; policy recommendations, 167–169; satisfaction ratings, 163–166; and spouse/partners, 165–166; and women, 157, 162–163, 166, 168
"Relocation Trauma: Fact or Fiction?' 157–170
Research: participatory management, 230–236; training (study), 66–73; training needs assessment, 356
Research and development (R&D): management training, 264–265; manager roles, 254–263; managers (study), 266–274; and on-the-job learning, 264–265; and product development, 264; staff, 263
"Response to Manz and Manz's Article on Self-Directed Learning (HRDQ 2:1): An Instructional Design Perspective," 175–179
"Response to Manz and Manz's Article on Self-Directed Learning (HRDQ 2:1): So How Would It Work?" 171–173
"Review of the Participatory Management Literature: Implications for HRD Research and Practice, A" 229–250
Reviews: "The Business of Education and the Education of Business: Three Reviews," 180–189; The Coordinator II, Version 2.01, 301–304; The Empowered Manager: Positive Political Skills at Work, 404–408; Executive Development: A Strategy for Corporate Competitiveness, 94–96; The Fifth Discipline: The Art and Practice of the Learning Organization, 198–201; The HRD Practitioner, A Person of Many Roles, 96–98; Leadership Is an Art, 409–412; Mastery: The Keys to Long-Term Success and Fulfillment, 413–416; Politics, Markets, and America's Schools, 190–194; REGISTRAR™ Training Registration and Logistics Management System, 416–418; Shaping the Future: Business Design Through Information Technology, 298–301; A System of Change, 293–298; The Technology Revolution Comes to Education in Business Week, 194–198; Thriving on Chaos, 91–93; "A Twenty-Dollar Bill, an Hour of Time, and a Tiny Book: Three Reviews," 403–404
Rhetorical analysis: and cultural change, 83–84; and strategic response (case study), 75–80
"Rhetorical Analysis of Strategic Responses by Managers," 75–81
"Rhetorical Rules Can Change Corporate Tribes But Not Corporate Culture," 83–85
Rothwell, W. J., "Invited Reaction: Thoughts About On-the-Job Training and On-the-Job Learning," 319–323
Ruch, K. E., "Work Force Literacy: Problems and Solutions," 251–261

S

Sage, J. E., review by, 416–418
Schneider, J., reviews by, 190–194, 404–408
Schools. See Education

Self-directed learning (SDL): applications, 22; and aptitude treatment interaction, 17; and constructive/credible models, 8; and constructive persuasive influence, 9–10; critique of model, 14–18; defined, 4–5, 13, 175–176; design/delivery issues, 322; goals, 22; and high/low ability learners, 17, 23; and human resource development, 21; illustration, 171–173; and instructional design, 176–178; and instructional methods, 16; and learning resource centers, 172–173; and mentors, 172; model, 7–10; and needs analysis, 16; and nonthreatening learning environment, 8–9; and organizational analysis, 16; and orientation program, 172; and performance/mastery interaction, 17, 23; research, 15–16, 21; and self-efficacy/leadership skills, 7, 10–11; successful experiences, 7–8; and SuperLeadership, 6; and support groups, 173. See also Learning; On-site study
Self-direction: and adult learning, 5–6; studies, 3
Self-efficacy: and learning, 7; and motivation theories, 14; and successful experience, 7–8
Self-leadership, 6, 14, 23
Self-study, 312, 315
Senge, P. M., The Fifth Discipline: The Art and Practice of the Learning Organization, reviewed, 198–201
Seven Dimensions Pty, Ltd., A System of Change, reviewed, 293–298
Shaping the Future: Business Design Through Information Technology, reviewed, 298–301
Signals of importance: and organizational training (study), 27–35; organizational uses, 28–30; and training interventions, 27–28
Silton-Bookman Systems, REGISTRAR™ Training Registration and Logistics Management System, reviewed, 416–418
Situational leadership, 400
Skill Needs Assessment Method (SNAM), 256
Sleezer, C. M., "Developing and Validating the Performance Analysis for Training Model," 355–372; "Rhetorical Analysis of Strategic Responses by Managers," 75–81
Social comparison theory (SCT), 346–347
Spitzer, D. R., "Response to Manz and Manz's Article on Self-Directed Learning (HRDQ 2:1): An Instructional Design Perspective," 175–179
Statistical process control (SPC), 278
Stern, S., "Invited Reaction: Training and Development in Japan—The Basis for Relationships," 115–120
Strategic decision making: and environmental change (study), 75–80; and human resource professionals, 80; rhetoric, 80
"Strategies for Facilitating Self-Directed Learning: A Process for Enhancing Human Resource Development," 3–12
SuperLeadership, 6
Support groups, 173
System of Change, A, reviewed, 293–298
Systems analysis, 203

T

Tang, T. L-P., "The Influence of Talkativeness and Expertise on Decision Making in Small Groups," 87–89
"Taxonomy of Individual Learning Benefits from External Knowledge-Sharing Meetings, A," 37–52
Technology: and business change, 298–299; and human resource development, 301; and on-site training, 313–314; and work force literacy, 252–255. See also Computers
Technology Revolution Comes to Education in Business Week, The, reviewed, 194–198
Thriving on Chaos, reviewed, 91–93
Trade imbalances, Japan/U.S., 392–394
"Trading Imbalance and Cultural Learning Imbalance," 391–395
Trainers: and SuperLeadership, 6–7; and trainee learning style, 62–63; and trainee perceptual preference, 54; and training research (study), 66–73
Training: apprenticeship, 308–309; blue-collar worker, 111; changing function, 72; company-specific, 108; costs, 15; deficiencies, 15; in developing nations, 130; employee as trainer, 109; executive, 94–96; and external relations skills, 72; human relations-based, 110; human resource professionals (study), 144–154; instructional strategy, 57–63; knowledge base, 65–66; literature (study), 66–73; long-term, 109; measurement, 29; needs assessment, 144; new employee, 110–111, 115; on-the-job, 109, 111–113; and perceptual preference (study), 54–62; performance-based, 110; and performance/mastery orientation, 17; and posttraining evaluation, 29, 34–35; and pretraining conditions, 27–28, 30, 33–34; problem-solving, 88; program management software, 416–418; research deficits, 68–70; safety, 56; and self-development/volunteerism, 109–110; and self-directed learning, 15; and signals of importance (study), 27–35; Smith System, 56–57; subjectivism, 35; and trainability, 25; and trainee pretraining antecedents, 25–26; validity, 72; videos, 291–298; voluntary/mandatory status, 29–30; white-collar worker, 111–113. See also On-site training; On-the-job training (OJT); Training and development (T&D)

Training (continued)

Training and development (T&D): action training/learning approach, 134–135, 138–139; and change, 293–298; computer-based, 279; developing nations, 129–130; increased role, 143–144; Japanese, 101–102, 108–116, 118–120; and managerial capacity-building activities, 134–137; and managerial performance, 130–131; and work force literacy needs, 259–260. See also Human resource development (HRD); Training

Training needs assessment: Performance Analysis for Training (PAT) Model, 356–370; research, 356; research-based approach, 370–371; and training needs decisions, 357–358. See also Needs assessment

"Training Practitioner Perceptions of the Research Agenda Needed to Improve Training," 65–73

Training practitioners. See Trainers

Transformational leadership, 398–399

"Transformational Leadership in Leadership Continues," 397–402

"Twenty-Dollar Bill, an Hour of Time, and a Tiny Book: Three Reviews, A," 403–404

U

Unemployment. See Job loss

Unions, work force literacy programs, 259

V

Vance, C. M., "A Taxonomy of Individual Learning Benefits from External Knowledge-Sharing Meetings," 37–52

Videos, training, 291–298

Vielhaber, M. E., "Training Practitioner Perceptions of the Research Agenda Needed to Improve Training," 65–73

W

Watson, R. T., "Enhancing Group Behavior with a Keypad-Based Group Support System," 333–354

Whisler, E. W., "The Influence of Talkativeness and Expertise on Decision Making in Small Groups," 87–89

Wilcock, K. D., "Rhetorical Rules Can Change Corporate Tribes But Not Corporate Culture," 83–85

Willis, V. J., "The New Learning Organization: Should There Be a Chief Learning Officer in the House?" 181–187

Women, job relocation, 157, 162–163, 166, 168

Work force: basic skills education, 255–256; literacy, 252; training needs, 259–260. See also Workplace

Work force literacy: assessment, 256; and community-based organizations, 257; corporate response, 258–259; demands, 254; educational group response, 257–258; and employee safety/health, 255; government response, 257; organizational response, 257; problem, 256; and technological changes, 252, 255; union

response, 259. See also Illiteracy; Literacy
"Work Force Literacy: Problems and Solutions," 251–261
Worker dislocation, 285–287
Workers. See Employees
Workinger, R. K., "Work Force Literacy: Problems and Solutions," 251–261
Workplace: change, 143–144, 320–321; education, 308–309; literacy (study), 123–128; and mastery, 413. See also Work force
"Workplace Literacy: A Descriptive Investigation," 121–128
Workstation systems, 337. See also Keypad systems

Y

Yao, M., review by, 416–418
Yarger, S. J., review by, 194–198